An interesting meeting of the Old Hall Tuesday morning, when the following officers were elected: Chairman and tressurer, Miss Faonie Burke; secretary, Miss Philippa Wattles; assistant secre-tary, Mis. James H. Mansfield. The following house committee was appointed by the chairman: Mrs. William Campbell, Mrs. Wm. Latham, Mrs. Edna Davis, Mrs. J. H. Mansfield, Mrs. H. Snowden, Mrs. Edger Warfield, Miss P. Wattles and Miss F. Burke. The ladies of the committee are auxious to establish an instructive visiting nurse as a resident and director at the Old Ladies' Home. S. veral of the old ladies are more or less infirm and will be much more comfortable under such supervision, and it will be a great advantage to the sick poor of this city who cannot be accommodated at the hospital, (chronic cases, malernity cases, and childish silments which are not ill enough to require hourly attention) to have the services of a well trained and intelligent ourse who will instruct parents in the proper care of young children and in efficient nursing of light or contagious cases in their own families. As this will be an untired blessing, money has been raised for a three months' trial, to ascertain the advantage of such an arrangement, and as soon as the house committee can make propir accommodations at the home a su table person will be installed. She will be subject to call from all ministers, doctors, and drug stores in the city as well as all private persons; will say when a doctor is necessary, will give no prescriptions, will not be subject to night calls and will have nursing hours from 8:30 a. m till üve p. m. Schultz, a Chicago sytist. Smith was respited until Jane 3. The other three were granted stays until June 10. Since this last respite was granted, former State Senator Machen has filed s number of papers and an additional petition in behalf of the doomed men. The opinion prevails that Johnson, Dorsey and Pines will receive commutations of their sentence to life imprisonment,

EQUINE STUBBORNESS.

A horse attached to a wagon belonging to N. Lindsey & Co. stretched itself on its side on Union street, near King, this morning. A crowd soon gathered and afrer the animal had been freed from the barness all sorts of suggestions were made by bystanders as to the medus operandi of getting the equine on its feet. Various methods including tail-twisting, the use ot a lever made from planks strapped t:gether, a whip and vigorous pulling at a halter, all however, proved futile. The animal positively refused to stand, and every time it was turned over it got in a position more unhandy for its would-be human helpers. Finally some canvas wis spread over the horse to protect it from flies and a dray was later brought on the scene. After no little trouble the equine was placed aboard and it was transported to the stable and placed prostrate in a stall. While arrangements were being made to use a bellyband and a block and tackle, the snimal arcse on its own volition and began to sniff around for something to eat.

THE CANAL OELEBRATION.

Mr. A. J. Wedderburn has today secured many signatures to a petition to the Senators and Representatives from the State of Virginia, calling their attention to the fact that if the Pansma canal celebration is held in Washington that it will be greatly to the advantage of the people of Virginia, especially as a large portion of the esposition would necessarily be held in Alexandria county. The petition sets forth that there would be less expense to the government for exhibits, if the exposition was held here, owing to the fact that each department, instead of sending out a small portion of its attractions to the shows would be able to present all of them to the visitors in Washington, and in addition to this the historic points in Virginia near Washington would un-questionably be attractive features to uch an exposition.

The story is told of Robespierre that at one time when at the height of his power a lady called upon him, beseeching him to spare her husband's life. He scornfully refused.
